

First Judicial District of Pennsylvania-Wednesday, February 5, 2003

The Alex Bonavitacola Law Library of the First Judicial District of Pennsylvania is pleased to present an ongoing program entitled “ The First Judicial District of Pennsylvania : Open to the Public”. The program, designed to bridge the informational gap between the Court and the public, features presentations by various FJD judges, administrators, and managers, on practical court-related topics of interest to the general public. This month’s presentation will highlight CLAIMS, the Philadelphia Municipal Court’s integrated Web-based civil case management, document management, and electronic filing system. Speakers are the Hon. Robert S. Blasi, Supervising Judge, Municipal Court/Civil and Glenn Bozzacco, Esq., Deputy Court Administrator, Municipal Court Operations. The presentation begins 10:00 a.m. and concludes 11:30 a.m., at the Bonavitacola Library, Room 600, City Hall. There is no cost to attend this event and the event is open to attorneys and to the general public.