

NOTICE

David D. Wasson, III, Esq., appointed as the new Deputy Court Administrator for Trial Division - Criminal

David D. Wasson, III, Esq., has been appointed the new Deputy Court Administrator for Trial Division - Criminal, effective May 19, 2003. Mr. Wasson assumes administrative responsibility for all criminal operations of the Court of Common Pleas, including: Criminal Listings; Active Criminal Records; Courtroom Operations; Pretrial Services; and Adult Probation and Parole. Mr. Wasson fills the position vacated by Joseph A. Cairone, who was named Court Administrator for the First Judicial District in October 2002.

Mr. Wasson comes to the First Judicial District after eight years with the Philadelphia District Attorney's Office as well experience in the private practice of law and management positions in the private business sector. He is also a Major in the Judge Advocate General Corps of the U.S. Army Reserves with varying administrative responsibilities. Mr. Wasson is a graduate of Central High School, Temple University undergraduate and Law Schools and Eastern University's MBA program.